CARROUSEL ON THE RIVER

For several days nature built and ran this unusual carrousel of ice on the Mattapoisett River at the point where it passes under the road. This giant, perfect circle of ice was broken free of the main ice sheet and revolved slowly and steadily, pushed by the current below. It is interesting to note that there is little clear water between the circular ice floe and its bearing formed by the main sheet. When formed this floe must have been cut out in this perfect circle by the water action. We thank Mrs. Kenneth Wiggin of Acushnet Road for calling to tell us of this unusual ice formation.

MEET THE CANDIDATE NIGHT IN MATT.

The Legistlative Committee, Mrs. Leonard Burnham, chairman, of the Mattapoisett Woman's Club is preparing a Meet the Candidate Night for Thursday, February 28th, at the Center School in Mattapoisett. The candidates for the Town offices will be invited to speak and to answer questions. This meeting will be open to the public and should afford an excellent opportunity for the voters to become acquainted with the ideas and aims of the office seekers. This is a new approach to local politics and should be an interesting one.

With the retirement of veteran Selectman, Manuel Linhares, this year, three candidates seek the office of Selectmen. While all three, David Haley, William Spark and Donald Linhares are known for their activities in the town this opportunity to see and hear them on the subject of the town will be unique and should

PLANNING BOARD TO HOLD HEARING

The Mattapoisett Planning Board is preparing a report to be mailed to every Mattapoisett voter which will explain the purpose of a public hearing to be held on Wednesday, February 27th, at 8 P.M. at the Mattapoisett Town Hall. This will concern the Proposed Article 24 in the Town Warrant.

The Planning Board feels it will be valuable for the town to make an inventory of Mattapoisett community resources. They explain that while available records provide information, it is limited, mostly, to developed areas and does not cover the problem of future growth which will soon become acute in now undeveloped areas of the town. Maps of the town are incomplete or out of date and the Planning Board states that there is a definite need for a controlled base map showing current physical culture, drainage and lot lines. This would cover public land such as beaches, watershed, dump, school sites, none of which are now recorded on a town wide basis. Population information and economic resources for future growth would be included as would studies for the future such as municipal sewer and storm drainage systems. The Planning Board feels that the extension of Route 195 will present problems and opportunities as Mattapoisett will lose a substantial amount of land and become more accessible from the west. They feel that the town should be able to express its preference in regard to this route when the State begins its surveys.

This recommended planning program has been divided into 2 phases. Phase 1 would take 18 months to complete and would cost $22,000 of which $5,500 would have to be voted by the town. The blance of 75% would be applied for in the form of a federal grant. Phase 2 would concern preparation of a zoning by-law and map deisgned specifically to meet Mattapoisett conditions and objectives. This would cost $4,000 and take a period of 6 months to complete.

The Planning Board will explain the purpose and objectives of this recommended plan and will answer questions at the hearing on February 27th.

No. 2. Wednesday is veterinarians' day off in this area. No one should know that better than I, as I've kept horses and raised dogs all my life; and when I find myself in trouble it is always on Wednesday.

No. 3. They were held up in finding the owner, as his tag number was not in the police files at that time.

No. 4. The dog was totally paralyzed and had lost all control of its bodily functions. His eyes were turned back practically out of sight. The dog was in shock and much too far gone to revive.

Now in all fairness, who would leave a dog in that condition lying on a cold pavement, while someone ran around trying to find a Vet on his day off?

I was Dog Officer before Ralph and am only too familiar with what he goes through; however I have been thanked and have also turned down tips for doing exactly what he did in this particular case.

The actions of a Dog Officer in this type of situation are based entirely on his conscience. All that dog needed was release from intense suffering, and that is what he got. I can't accept the fact that the Dog Officer took the easiest way out "by pumping lead into a sick dog's body".

I have known Ralph Moore for over fifteen years and it comes to me as a complete surprise that there is a doubt in anyone's mind as to his sincerity in his job, whatever it is.

I know as well as anyone what it means to lose a dog, especially one you are fond of, and I always feel sorry for anyone who loses theirs. However, if anyone ever finds one of my dogs suffering on the side of the road, please dispatch him or her, and I will be eternally grateful.

DOG TAGS SHOULD IDENTIFY OWNERS

Many troubles stem directly through lack of communication. The incident referred to in the February 14th issue and the above letter to the editor appears to be one of these unfortunate cases where both parties involved suffer because of this lack. If the complete list of dog tag numbers had been available to the dog officer, a commendation rather than a condemnation might have been the result. We have little doubt that both Ralph Moore and dog owners would prefer that the dog owner be notified and make the decision in the case of injured animals. Whenever a dog is wearing a tag, quick identification of the owner should be possible. Then, if the owner can't be reached, the dog officer must make a judgment based upon what is best for the dog. But, in this case, the owner will know that every effort was made to contact him first. This would make all the difference.

A list of dog tag numbers complete and readily available to the dog officer can avoid another unfortunate incident in the future.

Dear friends,
There is a natural tendency on the part of a bereaved family to express high tribute to the deceased. To urge an expensive selection, beyond the family's ability to pay, is certainly not a reputable practice.
We feel that the family should be permitted to make its own selection, guided by such information and suggestion as the funeral director may be able to offer.
We avoid any possibility of "over-selling".

PARTIES HELD AT DANCING SCHOOL

The parish hall of the Mattapoisett Congregational Church was attractively decorated Friday night for the parties held for the dancing school classes. Paper snowflakes and red hearts were hung from the ceiling. Valentines decorated the walls and on the stage were two huge handmade valentines, one of a boy fishing the other of a girl fishing. A big red heart was at the center of the stage.

The dancing classes have been sponsored by the Women's Community Guild of the church, Mrs. Marshall Ross, chairman. Instructor has been Miss Charlotte Spooner and pianist, Mrs. James Leadbetter, both of Fairhaven.

A king and queen were chosen by drawing names from a box.

In the first class Phillip LaFrance was chosen king and Susan Whelan, queen. The elimination dance was won by Mark Peterson and Cynthia Sylvia. Ribbon winners of the prize waltz were Dr. David Goodenough and Gail Chase. Hosts and hostesses were Mr. and American Legion on the dishonor done to Veterans' Day. The American Legion Florence Eastman Post, Mattapoisett urges local citizens to write to Representative Edwin Morse at the Massachusetts State House to urge him to support the restoration of Veterans' Day to its status as a full holday in this State.

A VETERANS' DAY PLEA

Asked the G. I. corpse in his hallowed grave -
What have they done for the lives we gave?
They said we were dying for we had a world to save -
Now what is going on, on Armistice Day?

Nothing for the cause for which we fought,
Our youth and our lives have gone for naught!
A piece of ground is all we bought!
And here we lie - they just forgot!

They made November the eleventh a special day -
They called it first Armistice, now Veterans' Day,
But instead of the Flag - it's WARES they display!!
THEY OPEN THEIR STORES ON OUR SPECIAL DAY!!

They swore by all that's holy they'd never forget -
And they would be forever in our debt -
But the way they show honor is our shame and regret -
They have BARGAIN SALES to honor the Vet!!

If you think that we're bitter - you're right all the way!
We died for a cause and forgotten we lay -
Just one final plea and no more will I say -
Take it back from the merchants - AND GIVE US OUR DAY!!

STATE SENATOR ALLAN F. JONES

Following last month's battles deciding legislative leadership, the decks are now clear for a new legislative year on the Hill. There are many new faces on hand (55 in the Senate and House chambers) but the problems for the most part, remain basically the same.

We witnessed a new administration take the helm at the convening of the 163rd Massachusetts General Court and we were placed on notice of the dominant issues challenging us. Education, budget problems, government reorganization and reform and tax relief for property owners are the problems I feel should be tackled first.

Paul R. Mullaney, Field St., Mattapoisett

Looking ahead to the 1963 political year, it appears the problem of public education could supersede all others for legislative attention during the present session. The State Department of Education has announced its intention of asking for an additional $12 million on top of its current total appropriation of $65.5 million to meet the sky-rocketing educational needs in our state.

The admitted need for more and better public education and Governor Peabody's pre-election recognition of this need will make it difficult to trim the Department's requested appropriation.

There are some who are speculating on the possiblity of an "education tax".

However, one of my immediate concerns will be strong support of any program that promises some form of tax relief for the over-burdened local taxpayers. Massachusetts has by far the highest property taxes in the nation. This situation, probably more than any other single cause, has deterred our economic growth, and, at the same time, burdened our individual taxpayers with a levy that is, undoubtedly, the most unfair of any major tax that we impose. The over-dependence on the property tax is particularly unfortunate in our case because local taxation is the source for financing public education.

You have been reading about the Conflict-of-Interest law lately, and I, myself, have been deluged with requests for information and clarification. Recently, I discussed the matter at some length with Attorney-General Ed Brooke following several conferences with Professor Siskind of Boston University who helped author the bill.

The Attorney General informed me town counsels will be the pivotal individuals around which the bill revolves. According to Section 22 of the measure, any question arising under this Chapter relating to the duties, responsibilities and interest of town employees are entitled to the opinion of the town counsel or city solicitor. I have sent copies of Section 22 to all Boards of Selectmen in the District. These may be posted in town hall for the enlightenment of the citizenry.

Although the Conflict-of-Interest law will cause a number of inconveniences to several towns, I believe the measure is a progressive one and should be enacted without delay.

I was particularly pleased with my appointments by the Senate President John Powers to serve on four Senate committees. Three is the customary limit for freshman Senators, but my tenure in the House enabled me to be named to a fourth, the only Republican Senator to hold this number of committee seats.

The Committees are: the Senate's permanent

I would also like to take this time to congratulate Plymouth's outstanding weekly newspaper, the Old Colony Memorial, on its 140th anniversary of publication. I know the other weeklies in the District will join me in this accolade to my friend, Paul Bittinger, and his staff....

Weeklies have an esprit de corps that is something more than commendable.
